

```

<!DOCTYPE html>
<html>
  <head>
    <title>Simple Video Example</title>
    <!-- Uncomment the following tag when developing on a local or intranet computer -->
    <!-- <meta http-equiv-'X-UA-Compatible' content='ie9' /> -->
  </head>
  <body>
    <video id="video1" >
      HTML5 video is not supported </video>

    <input type="text" id="videoFile" style="width:600px" value="http://ie.microsoft.com/testdrive/ieblog/2011/nov/pp4_blog_demo.mp4"/>

    <!-- Button width set so overall size doesn't change when we toggle the label -->
    <button id="playButton" style="width: 80px" >Play</button>
    Elapsed Time:

    <script>

      var oVideo = document.getElementById("video1"); //video element var button = document.getElementById("playButton");
      var display = document.getElementById("timeDisplay");

      // Capture time changes and display current position oVideo.addEventListener("timeupdate", function () { display.innerHTML = oVideo.currentTime.toFixed(2) ; }, false);

      button.addEventListener("click", function () { // toggle between play and pause based on the paused property
        if (oVideo.paused) { var oInput = document.getElementById('videoFile'); //text box
          if (oInput.value) {
            // only load a video file when the text field changes
            if (oInput.value != oVideo.src) {
              oVideo.src = oInput.value;
              oVideo.load();
            }
            oVideo.play();
          }
        } else {
          oVideo.pause();
        }
      }, false);

      // Capture the play event and set the button to say pause oVideo.addEventListener("play", function () { button.innerHTML = "Pause"; }, false);

      // Capture the pause event and set the button to say play oVideo.addEventListener("pause", function () { button.innerHTML = "Play"; }, false);
    </script>
  </body>
</html>

```

```
    }, false);

    </script>
</body>
</html>
```

See also

audio element

audio object

media element

video element

video object

How to use HTML5 to play video files on your webpage

How to use HTML5 to Add an Audio Player to your Webpage

Make your videos accessible with Timed Text Tracks

Show: Inherited Protected

Print Export \(0\) Share

Is this page helpful? Yes No